

Colorado Springs, CO – Intern

Intern – The Major League Baseball Players Alumni Association (MLBPAA) is currently seeking interns to spend a quarter/semester in an experience driven environment. The MLBPAA is a non-profit, 501 c 3 organization in its 25th year of promoting the game of baseball, raising money for local charities and serving the unique needs of former players. This success could not have been accomplished without the support of a dedicated staff, a staff that depends on the internship program to be an integral part of its everyday operations. Growing with the MLBPAA, the internship program provides a well-rounded experience by exposing participants to all facets of the organization, including but not limited to the following: day-to-day business operations, sales/marketing, event management, public/media relations, membership development, memorabilia development and sales and technology. Interns will learn through hands on experiences working with the MLBPAA's Swing with the Legends charity golf series, the Legends for Youth baseball clinic series, Legends Games, the membership department, Major League Alumni Marketing and Major League Alumni Services. The Alumni Association's internship program provides ample opportunities for its members to gain experience and/or college credit in the sports industry. For more information, please contact the email address at the bottom of this posting or spend time at www.baseball-legends.com Interns must be studying at a college or university and must be looking to gain experience or credit through an MLBPAA internship.

Skill - - Strong Interpersonal skills - Creative - Trustworthy – Hardworking.

Derek Mayfield (derek@mlbpaa.com)

Qualifications: Have/Working towards University Degree - preferred sports management/administration

Contact: Email your resume to: Derek Mayfield
Director of Youth Programming
MLBPAA
derek@mlbpaa.com

Or, fax to: (719) 477-1875

No phone calls please.